

Ruisheng Yue has been the Secretary General of ISA since 2011.

Between 2009-2011 he was the Executive Deputy Director of National Project Office of “China-EU Biodiversity Project” (EU 30 million Euros grants), the Director of National Project Office of GEF “the Yangtze River Flood Project”, the Director of National Project Office of GEF “Household Air Conditioners Efficiency and Energy Conservation Project” and the Director of National Project Office of GEF “Biodiversity Partnership Project”

Mr. Yue had been in charge of environmental international treaty negotiation and daily cooperation work with related international organizations and regional environmental cooperation mechanism since 1996, conduct cooperation on the implementation of the treaties above in China with UNEP, UNDP and UNIDO and other international organizations. He worked at the science and technology departments of local government since 1987, in charge of electronic materials and products, home appliances, new type textile machinery R&D project management.

Graduated from the Mechanical Engineering department of Xi'an Polytechnology University, and then employed by the University as a teacher. Master in Environmental Science from Peking University. He is a senior engineer.